2. Introduction

C-DAC, as the premier scientific and engineering institution of Ministry of Electronics and Information Technology (MeitY), has been entrusted to take the mantle and steer it through this monumental phase of digital transformation. C-DAC has attained a vantage position in the area of ICT&E through its applied pioneering research in the last three decades in various domains in the ever-vibrant global landscape, which includes high impact initiatives such as National Supercomputing Mission (NSM).

C-DAC Hyderabad with its focus in Advanced Computing is uniquely positioned in carrying out research, develop & deploy products/solutions and also offering services in Advanced and Emerging ICT&E Technologies with a focus on Cyber Security, AI/ML, Embedded Systems & IoT, Blockchain Technology, Quantum Computing and e-Learning/ e-Governance / Enterprise Solutions using Emerging Software, Cloud, Virtualization & Database Technologies.

As our nation embarks upon its most revolutionary phase of Digital Transformation, multitudes of reformative and transformative changes in the way we live, interact, and engage within the society and beyond are being witnessed. At the core of this revolution reside scientific and engineering imperatives, interventions, challenges, solutions and breakthroughs to establish ensured Digital Infrastructure as a utility for governance, services-on-demand and digital empowerment of the citizens. C-DAC Hyderabad with a focus on the above-mentioned ICT&E Technologies and with the support of MeitY and other organizations is pursuing R&D, developing solutions and also offering various services. Beyond excelling in the present areas of research, C-DAC Hyderabad has committed itself to explore and engage in the avant-garde visionary areas.

3. Objective

The objective of this EoI is to shortlist organisations/ startups who have expertise in the following Advanced and Emerging ICT&E Technologies and associated areas - Cyber Security, AI/ML, Embedded Systems & IoT, Blockchain Technology, Quantum Computing and e-Learning/ e-Governance / Enterprise Solutions using Emerging Software, Cloud, Virtualization & Database Technologies. Based on the need, C-DAC Hyderabad shall select and identify agencies amongst the shortlisted agencies for co-development, implementation, testing, maintenance, support, capacity development & training etc., related to the above mentioned technologies & associated areas.

It is envisaged to have end to end collaboration from development to release processes including deployment automation, scalable, seamless deployment and operations across locations. The systems so developed should be effectively tested, modular and robust. Expertise in product testing & assessment, performance fine tuning, project management & planning etc., are desirable.

As per project demands, such agencies should be ready to provision and provide desired technology solutions, labs/facilities, provide solution architects, scalable system/application designers, infrastructure architects and solution providers.

C-DAC Hyderabad is expecting projects from various Government/Private agencies which it plans to execute with the active support from the shortlisted agencies (small/medium/large), during the period of engagement.

As per the requirements of the project, C-DAC Hyderabad reserves the right to select from among the shortlisted agencies for providing the services through any one or more of the following modes:

In the realm of Mobile Security, team's comprehensive approach encompasses a state-of-the-art analysis platform named Vishleshak, enabling deeper assessments of threats and risks of Android apps. The team has also developed a comprehensive mobile device security solution named M-Kavach 2 addressing emerging threats related to mobile devices. Along with this, the team is also working on Mobile Device Management and VAPT tool for security assessment of Android Mobile apps. Delving deeper, our strengths extends to the development of Security products and solutions that are enforced at the system level for various environments such as Windows, Linux, Android and IoT. AI/ML based Cyber Security solutions such as multi stage attack detection are developed by the team. Furthermore, C-DAC Hyderabad stands as a beacon of IoT Security evaluation expertise and has evolved a handbook for in-depth security assessment & evaluation of IoT devices. Having two decades of experience in this field, team share knowledge by conducting specialized Advanced Trainings in Cyber Security. Comprehensive training programs of Hyderabad centre empower professionals, students, faculty etc., to gain knowledge and skills needed to navigate the complex landscape of cybersecurity. Through this association C-DAC Hyderabad invites prospective agencies to join it in safeguarding the digital future, by collaborating to develop & deploy products / solutions, offer services and advanced training programs in the domain of Cyber Security.

b) Blockchain Technology

Blockchain is a technology that is globally adopted for applications in various domains of E-Governance, Enterprise processes, Banking & Finance, etc. Considering the importance of this technology, C-DAC along with other organizations and with support from MeitY has evolved a National Blockchain Framework (NBF). The NBF technology stack is useful for rapid development of Blockchain based applications with automated network setup, smart contracts for process checks, verification & validation of transactions and quick deployment of the same on to Blockchain network addressing the challenges related to security, consensus and interoperability. The technology stack is being used towards development and deployment of various applications for Government departments. Through this association team invites prospective agencies to collaborate for development of innovative Blockchain enabled applications in various domains and deploy the existing developed applications for larger proliferation & adoption. Team also look forward for jointly offering training programs in Blockchain so as to provide an exceptional opportunity for professionals, individuals and organizations to delve into the intricacies of this transformative technology.

c) AI/ML based Solutions / Applications

Team at Hyderabad centre of C-DAC focuses on applied R&D and development of products and services in the areas of AI/ML specifically in computer vision and image processing domain. The team has been working on development and training of state of the art AI models for solving multiple computer vision based problems. A number of applications have been developed in this area such as face recognition based solutions, face based attendance devices, Video analytics on CCTV cameras including person identification, crowd anomaly detection and fire & smoke detection. Additionally, the team is working on AI based Video and Audio deepfake creation and detection domain. The team also has rich expertise in running AI/ML models in embed platforms such as Raspberry PI and Jetson Nano. Through association with Collaborative Development Partners and Deployment Partners, it is proposed to deploy/enhance existing AI technologies and develop new AI models in the area of Deep learning for computer vision. It is proposed further, to work on ethical data collection including, but not limited to images, videos and audios for improved AI models training. It is also envisaged to use generative AI for development of impactful solutions in the domains of Biometrics, Medical, surveillance and road traffic problems. Team also look forward for jointly offering skill based training programs in AI/ML. Team is also actively using AI/ML in various Cyber Security solutions.

Hardware Accelerator:

The team at C-DAC Hyderabad is dedicated to cutting-edge research and development of products and services in the realm of VLSI, hardware design, and chipset development, with a particular focus on high-end chipsets tailored for the HPC domain. As part of C-DAC's roadmap, the team has been diligently engaged in crafting and refining state-of-the-art hardware accelerators for AI/ML workloads, employing hardware-accelerated algorithms that facilitate parallel hardware execution, etc. C-DAC Hyderabad centre's ongoing endeavours encompass the development and training of VLSI systems aimed at serving server class of computing. Looking ahead, team vision extends to provide hardware accelerated algorithms and solutions that can help generative AI in providing faster solutions with optimal resources.

d) Embedded Systems & IoT

C-DAC Hyderabad's Embedded Team designed, developed, and deployed a range of products, solutions, and services in the space of embedded systems and the Internet of Things (IoT). The team's portfolio includes development of hardware platforms, software & firmware, and applications. A number of products/solutions were developed for specific IoT use cases, such as agriculture, smart cities, and connected vehicles.

Smart Agriculture: An IoT based system for acquiring micro-climate information from agricultural fields and providing personalized and localized advisories on Pest and Disease Forewarning and Irrigation Scheduling, to farmers.

Smart Cities:

- Smart Garbage Bins: Garb0 is an IoT based waste management system where low powered, battery operated, LoRa based IoT Devices are attached to each of the garbage bin to measure the level of waste and when it crosses a particular threshold intimates the garbage collectors. Optimized schedule and route for scheduling the collection of waste in garbage bins will be generated accordingly.
- IoT Based SmArt WatEr Solutions (iSAWE): The IoT Based SmArt WatEr Solutions (iSAWE) comprises the Smart Water Level System (02H) and Smart

Water Meter (SWM) developed at C-DAC Hyderabad. These are low powered, battery operated IoT devices integrated with LoRa based wireless communication for outdoor deployments, providing a battery life of 1 year or more.

Connected Vehicles:

Dedicated Short-Range Communication (DSRC) based hardware & stack are developed for providing vehicle to vehicle communication as well as vehicle to roadside communication. The products which are being developed would enable two-way communication that can contribute to safer driving and provide various applications that use the secure vehicle to vehicle (V2V) communications and vehicle to roadside infrastructure (V2I) communications.

Through association with Collaborative Development Partners and Deployment Partners, it is proposed to deploy/enhance existing solutions and support in proliferation of developed solutions. Team also proposes for jointly offering skill based training in embedded, IoT and related areas.

e) Quantum Computing

Quantum Computing, Quantum Simulation and Quantum Machine Learning

The Team at C-DAC Hyderabad focuses on applied R&D and development in the emerging areas of Quantum Computing. The team has successfully developed an Indigenous simulator for Quantum Computing named QSim. The simulator is used by many researchers and academicians of the country. The team is actively working on accelerating the simulator on latest GPUs and Vector engine processors. The team is also exploring the areas of Quantum Machine learning for Image analytics, cyber security, health informatics and other domains. The team is open to collaborate on developing quantum computing algorithms for solving societal problems.

f) e-Learning/e-governance/Enterprise Solutions using emerging Software, Cloud and Database Technologies

The Hyderabad centre of C-DAC focuses on applied R&D and development of products and services in the areas of e-Governance, m-Governance, e-Learning and ICT solutions for Social development. A number of applications have been developed in these areas such as Vikaspedia – a multilingual collaborative knowledge sharing platform, MeghSikshak – a multilingual e-Learning platform, Balsahara – a Children Homes automation software, Training Management Information System, Notify – a mobile based personalised alert system, eVoting – Smartphone based voting, citizen-centric cross platform mobile apps to deliver m-Governance services and so on. These applications are built predominantly using open source technologies, and are multilingual, modular and scalable. Through association with Collaborative Development Partners and Deployment Partners, it is proposed to deploy/enhance existing solutions and develop new solutions. It is envisaged to use Web 3.0 and disruptive technologies such as AI/ML for development of impactful ICT solutions in the domains of Education, Agriculture, Social welfare and e-Governance that aim to solve real-life challenges and provide immersive user experience besides a seamless and efficient service delivery. Team also proposes for jointly offering skill based training programs in advanced technologies related to this domain.

C-DAC Hyderabad invites responses to this EoI from interested prospective agencies as per terms of engagement mentioned in the above mentioned technology verticals/ initiatives and associated areas.

3. Indicative Deliverables through engagement with shortlisted agencies

The following is a list of indicative deliverables proposed through engaging with agencies shortlisted through this EoI. However actual deliverables will depend upon project specific requirements and will be mutually finalized by C-DAC Hyderabad and selected agencies, before placing of order:

- a. Design /develop equipment/system/hardware/software/
- b. High Level and Low-Level Design/ Architecture Document
- c. Specification (SRS)
- d. User Manual/Statement of Work (SoW)
- e. Technical Manual/know-how/design artifacts/components
- f. Data Backup/Archival Process
- g. Requirement Traceability Matrix
- h. Source Code with documentation

4. Engagement process with shortlisted agencies

C-DAC Hyderabad intends to engage with the shortlisted agencies and the indicative terms and conditions applicable for such an engagement - but not limited to, will be as follows :
